

Year 2 Geography – Learning Organiser

Comparing Islands

Key enquiry question Would I prefer to live in Plymouth (UK) or Coles Bay (Tasmania)? 	Plymouth Overview Plymouth (UK) is in the continent of Europe, which is in the Northern Hemisphere.  Plymouth has a mild climate with a lot of rainfall and cloud throughout the year. Population estimate – 262,100 Plymouth is a city in the United Kingdom, which is an island.	Coles Bay Overview Coles Bay (Tasmania) is in the continent of Australia, which is in the Southern Hemisphere.  Coles Bay has a fairly warm climate with a lot of rainfall throughout the year. Population estimate – 353 Coles Bay is a town in Tasmania, which is an island.
Physical Features beach cliff coast forest hill mountain ocean river soil valley vegetation 	Human Features city town village population factory farm house office port harbour shop 	Vocabulary Island – land surrounded by water. Town – a built up area. Urban – a town or a city. Land use – how land is used by people. Market – where goods are sold. Housing types – such as terraced, semi-detached, detached, flats or bungalows. Physical features – naturally occurring. Human features – created by people.

